Descendants of Abraham SAMPSON

First Generation

1. Abraham SAMPSON, son of Laurence SAMPSON and Mary SHABERY, was christened on 14 Aug 1614 in Campton, Bedfordshire, England and died Prob. Shortly before 1701 at age 87.

- First records: 4 Dec 1638, Duxbury, Plymouth Co., Massachusetts. Presented at the meeting house for striking John Washburn, Jr.
- Civic service: 1648: Surveyor of highways for Duxbury. Constable 1653.
- Land: 1645: One of the original grantees of Bridgewater, Plymouth Colony.
1662: One of four former servants and ancient freemmen given land at Saconnet Neck.
- Civil fines: 1646/47, 1662/63: Drunkenness.
- Two wives?: Clarence Almon Torrey, PhD, and Robert S. Wakefield, F.A.S.G., make the strong case for Abraham Sampson having two wives: the first being an unidentified daughter of his Duxbury neighbor Lt. Nash and the second being completely unidentified.

Abraham married Unidentified given name NASH, daughter of Lt. Samuel NASH and Unidentified UNKNOWN, by 1625. Unidentified was born circa 1625 in England and died circa 1655 at age 30.

- Identity: Robert Charles Anderson in his 2004 publication "The Pilgrim Migration: Immigrants to Plymouth Colony 1620-1633" states "The statement has appeared in print more than once that Esther, wife successively of Samuel Sampson and John Soule, was a daughter of Samuel Nash [NEHGR 52:76; MD 3:121], but this is an error, based on losing a generation by misreading the will of Samuel Nash [NEHGR 56:205]."
- Date of Death: Circa 1655 causes a problem in that Abraham's daughter Mary, said to hae been born circa 1650, is thought to be the daughter of the second wife.

Descendants of Abraham SAMPSON

- Date of Birth: Hutchinson says 1650.
- Parentage: Charles Almon Torrey states that Mary was actually the daughter of Abraham Sampson's wife, the unidentified daughter of Lt. Samuel Nash. He states this because she is left a bequest by Lt. Nash who would have been her grandfather through the unidentified Nash wife of Abraham. Torrey backs this up with the fact that Lt. Nash left no bequests to Abraham Sampson's sons George, Abraham and Isaac who were children by Abraham's other completely unidentified wife. The date of birth given Mary would also suggest she was the granddaughter of Nash.

Mary married Samuel HOWLAND, son of Henry HOWLAND and Mary UNKNOWN, from circa 1670 to 1672. Samuel was born circa 1638 and died bet. Feb 1715 (N.S.) and 18 Apr 1716.

- Parentage: Vinton says her maiden name was Ford. Hutchinson has said that Adam Ford (b. 8 Nov 1723 in Pembroke) and Rebecca Smith (d. 12 Nov 1809) were the parents of Judith however although I can find children of theirs in the "MA VR up to the Year 1850," I can find no information on Judith. In fact, the "MA VR 1840-1911" record (in the town clerk's hand) Judith's death on 29 Nov 1870 in Medford as "Judith H. Sampson (Hopkins)" and list her place of birth as Wellfleet [Barnstable Co., MA] and give only her father's name "Benjamin." There was a Capt. Benjamin Hopkins living in Wellfleet [see Newbury VR up to the Year 1850] who was probably her father although I have found no birth (circa 10 Jul 1792 based on her age of 78 yrs. 4 mos. 19 days at death) listed for her with his name. It is possible that she was previously married to a Ford (Foord) although I can find no record of it. This would have been before marrying Jonathan Sampson who was 25 years her senior. There wa a Judith Ford of Gloucester but her dates don't match and she died in 1798. I have not located the burial place of Judith.[SBCWJR]
- Date of Birth: Hutchinson says 5 Oct 1764.
- Age at Death: 78 yrs. 4 mos. 19 days.

Descendants of Abraham SAMPSON

Born on September 28, 1769 in New Bedford, Massachusetts, Bathsheba Rouse is recognized as the first woman to teach in the Northwest Territory. Rouse arrived in the region along with other pioneers in 1788. From 1789 to 1790, the Belpre community employed Rouse to instruct its young children. Subsequently, the Ohio Company hired Rouse to teach at Belpre's fortress stronghold, known as the "Farmers' Castle." Instruction in reading, writing, and sewing was reserved for the girls, while boys received lessons in reading, writing, and arithmetic. Rouse taught at Belpre for several terms before marrying Richard Greene and settling at nearby Marietta. Their descendants attained civic prominence in Washington County for generations. H. to Strafford about four miles out from Rochester.(Due to the fact that his father, Jonathan Sampson Jr. died at sea, leaving a large family of small children in Massachusetts, whom his widow , through force of such circumstances, had to scatter amongst relatives and friends to bring up, --- plus the further fact that many records were destroyed by fire at Plymouth Mass. also at Reedsville, Me. --- the problem of tracing AUTHENTIC records of Nehemiah's parentage has been most perplexing. ED.

After Nehemiah's death in 1818, his widow ---- then financially indebted to Solomon Foss, owner of the farm on which the Sampson home stood---- was forced to leave her home, there, and the several small children were scattered. (see records of Town Clerk at Reedsville, Me.)

- Children: In the 1850 Federal Census a single child is listed in the William M. and Angeline S. Adams household. Her name is clearly recorded as "Susan M. Burton" and her age is given as 4. Since William and Angeline were married in 1848 it is unlikely that this child was a natural child of theirs. In the 1860 Census Susan (age 14) continues to be the only child living with the family. In the 1870 Census Angeline (age 41) is living with her mother, Fanny Bradford (age 64), and Anna B. Bradford (age 39 - perhaps a younger sister). There are no children. Thus Angeline and William may have had no natural children of their own, thus ending her line of descent from Abraham Sampson.

2276. Peleg BARTLETT (*Susannah COOKE*⁹⁸², *Mary SAMPSON*²⁵⁷, *Peleg*⁴⁹, *Isaac*⁷, *Abraham*¹) was born on 13 May 1771 in Kingston, Plymouth Co., Massachusetts and died in 1818 in West Indies at age 47.

4573 F i. Mahala BARTLETT was born on 12 Sep 1799 in Kingston, Plymouth Co., Massachusetts and died in 1823 in Kingston, Plymouth Co., Massachusetts at age 24.

- Date and Place of Death: [The date and place given here is based on rather tenuous evidence. According to the Kingston marriage records, Mahala's husband Clement D. married a second time on 1 Dec 1828. This time to the widow Ellen/Eleanor Brewster. A Kingston death record of 1823 lists an unidentified wife of Clement D. Brewster dying of a "rupture" at the age of 23. No further info is provided. The MA VR 1841-1910 list deaths of 2 Ellen Brewsters in Kingston. One is for a widow aged 84 in 1880 whose place of birth and parents are listed as unknown. The other is for an Ellen who died in 1893 but unfortunately there is no image of the record and thus no dates or other information. There are no death records for an Eleanor Brewster in Kingston. I have assumed that the unnamed wife who died in 1823 at the age of 23 is Mahala who was born in 1799. As no children are listed in the Kingston VR for Mahala and Clement D., the whole exercise is, literally, fruitless. SBCWJR]

Cephas WASHBURN (*Phoebe/Pheba CUSHMAN*¹⁴⁰⁷, *William CUSHMAN Jr.*⁴⁸³, *Susannah SAMPSON*¹²⁵, *Joseph*²⁶, *George*⁵, *Abraham*¹) was born on 25 Jul 1793 in Randolph, Orange Co., Vermont, died on 17 Mar 1860 in Little Rock, Pulaski Co., Arkansas at age 66, and was buried in Mount Holly Cemetery, Little Rock, Arkansas.

- Biographical: "Washburn, Cephas Cephas Washburn (1793– 1860) Cephas Washburn was a Presbyterian missionary who helped found _ to serve the Cherokee. Washburn, who struggled along with his colleagues to bring Christianity to Native Americans on the territorial Arkansas frontier, served as an educator and minister for four decades. Cephas Washburn was born on July 25, 1793, in Randolph, Vermont, to Josiah Washburn and Phebe Cushman Washburn, who were farmers. Washburn turned from farming to education when he feared he might be disabled permanently from a broken leg. While teaching in Groton, Massachusetts, in the winter of 1814– 1815 to raise money for further education, he became a Congregationalist and soon decided he wanted to be a missionary to the Indians. After graduating from Vermont University in 1817, he apprenticed in the ministry with Reverend Parsons of Pittsfield, Massachusetts. The Royalton Congregational Association in Randolph licensed Washburn to preach in January 1818. On October 6, 1818, in Randolph, he married Abigail Woodward, his first cousin and the daughter of Asheal Woodward and Lucy Washburn Woodward. The Washburns had five children, the first three born at Dwight Mission and the last two born at New Dwight Mission, Oklahoma. One son, Edward Payson, was the famous painter of the "_ After he married, Washburn moved to Georgia, where he served with the Savannah Missionary Society to the Eastern Cherokee in 1818 and 1819. Washburn was given the Cherokee name Oo-kuh-squah-tuh while serving there. Because he apparently lacked confidence in his ability to speak the language, he used an interpreter for all his sermons and at least some of his interviews and visits with the Cherokee. The American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions sent him with a party in late 1819 to establish what became the Old Dwight Mission for the Western Cherokee. As many as 4000 Cherokee had fled troubles in their eastern homeland and, helped by a treaty, were trying to establish a new homeland in Arkansas. Washburn, his wife, his brother-in-law Reverend Alfred Finney, and others sought to provide education and spiritual support to these Cherokee. Washburn served as superintendent there and later at the mission's new location near Sallisaw, Oklahoma, after the Western Cherokee moved into Indian Territory in 1829. His wife was a tremendous help, sharing teaching and management duties. Washburn's account of the mission and the Arkansas Cherokee in his Reminiscences of the Indians, published posthumously in 1869, and in letters and reports to the American Board of Commissioners for Foreign Missions, provide important information on pioneer days in Arkansas. He was sympathetic to the Cherokee's loss of native lands and was also interested in their traditions.

He continued as superintendent at New Dwight until 1840, when he retired from missionary service to raise and educate his children in a more settled environment. This decision may have been influenced by the disruption after 1835, caused by the forced removal of thousands of Eastern Cherokee to Oklahoma, and the subsequent removal of influence from the Western Cherokee with whom Washburn had spent two decades.

The Washburns moved to Arkansas. He preached for the next two decades from bases in Benton (Saline County) and Norristown (Pope County). Along the way, he established a short-lived integrated school for Indians and Euro-Americans and founded and pastored several churches.

Eventually, he concentrated on evangelical preaching from Norristown.

Washburn died of pneumonia on March 17, 1860, in Little Rock (Pulaski County) while en route to an evangelical appearance at Helena (Phillips County). He was buried at in Little Rock.

- Surname: The LDS Family Search Website has an Individual Record submission (AF97-11601) from a Joe David Berg of VA for a Nancy De Atley (AFN: 1W2S-7MJ) listing her birth as "Abt. 1801", possibly in Plymouth, MA, who married Sylvanus Sampson (AFN: 1W2S-7JW) on 17 Apr 1822, in Westmoreland Co., VA. An IGI on the same site lists an Anne Deatley married to Sylvanus Sampson on the same place on the same date (Batch Number 8802184, Sheet: 02, source Call No.: 1396469, Type: Film. It would appear that they are one and the same individual. There are no entries in the Plymouth Vital Records for the surname De Atley, De Deatley, or Deatley, although there are two entries mentioning the couple Sylvanus and Nancy Sampson and their children. One, p. 353, Lists: "Children of Sylvanus Sampson 2nd & Nancy Sampson" and consists of the birth of "Sylvanus born Marcy 2, 1823" and "Harvey born Sept. 4, 1842." These are the apparently their first and last born. The record of death of what appears to be the second child, Fanny A., widow of M. H. Reamy, states that she was the daughter of "Sylvanus and Ann Sampson." The marriage record of daughter Susan A. Sampson says that the mother's name was Nancy. The MA Vital Records, Vol. 284, p. 301, record the death of a Nancy Sampson, maiden name Denty, widow, aged 70 yrs., 6 mos., and 2 days., on 12 Apr 1876. The entry further states that she was born in Virginia, the daughter of Christopher Denty. It is most likely that this is Nancy, wife of Sylvanus. Davis in his "Ancient Landmarks" Part 2, spells her surname as "Deadley."
- Age at Death: 70 yrs, 6 mos., 2 days., Widow.
